

Surprise motivational notes!

Children need encouragement to build self-confidence, a key ingredient to academic success. To help them believe in themselves, why not slip a surprise note in their school bag or lunch box? It's a great way to boost their motivation while helping them practise sentence construction.

Instructions :

- Print the sentences
- Choose one for your child
- Cut out the words
- Slip the words into an envelope or small pouch
- Hide it in your child's school bag or lunch box
- Ask them about the note after school (Did you like my surprise? What did the note say? Why do you think I chose that sentence? Etc.)
